

LEARNING OUTCOMES

9.1 Socio-political context for OHS in Australia

	Cognitive level	What the graduate should be able to do	Context	Level
Operational activities that a new graduate generalist OHS professional would be expected to undertake related to the topic	2	9.1-1 Describe the Australian OHS legal framework and legislative instruments.	For a nominated situation or workplace. Within a small organisation or section of a larger organisation.	As part of an information or briefing document to management and/or OHS committee and others.
	2	9.1-2 Identify other legislation potentially impacting on the management of OHS within workplaces.	For a nominated workplace.	Documented as part of a management system or workplace reference.
	2	9.1-3. Identify industry standards, bodies and structural elements (e.g. education frameworks) that may impact on the management of OHS.	For a nominated situation or workplace. For a particular scenario. Within a small organisation or section of a larger organisation.	As part of an information or briefing document to management and/or OHS committee and others. As may be reported through formal or informal processes.
Well-developed/advanced cognitive and technical skills to analyse, critically evaluate and transform information to complete activities related to the topic	3	9.1-4 Demonstrate an awareness of the impact of social and economic trends when providing OHS advice.	As it applies to a nominated situation or workplace. Within a small organisation or section of a larger organisation.	As may be reported through formal or informal processes.
Analyse and generate solutions to complex problems related to the topic	4	9.1-5 Consider the broader socio-political context when developing solutions to complex problems.	For a nominated situation or workplace. Within a small organisation or section of a larger organisation.	Documented in a report to management
Transmit knowledge, skills and ideas to others	3	9.1-6 Discuss with stakeholders the impact of the broader socio-political context on the management of OHS.	Workplace stakeholders may include managers, supervisors, worker representatives and those in functional roles such as HR, procurement, finance and technical services.	Communication strategies and language appropriate to the audience.
Demonstrate the required underpinning science and/or psychology knowledge
Integration of knowledge from other chapters				